The Silver Question.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—A special meeting of the National Silver Committee, appointed by the First National Silver Convention, held in St. Louis in November, 1889, is in progress today in this city. The object of the meeting is to consider the propriety of calling another National Silver Convention with a view to more thorough organization of all who favor the restoration of free silver as a bi-metallic coin in the United States.

The National Executive Committee is considering that in view of the recent action of Congress an exigency has arisen which demands immediate action.

THE SILVER MEETING.

A ROUSING RALLY FOR NEVADA'S PRODUCT.

A Large and Enthusiastic Crowd for Free Silver and Another Railroad.

Last evening the Opera House was filled with advocates of free silver.

About half past 7 o'clock a rockaway filled with enthusiastic silverites came up from Dayton, bearing a transparency on which was inscribed, "We know no party." "We demand silver coinage." This was received with shouts on the street.

After the band finished its music, the crowd that piled in after it filled the Opera House.

When the transparency was brought in by the Dayton people it was received with cheers and applause.

Mr. Meyers called the meeting to order and Dorsey Noteware, the circulator of the call, read it to the audience. It was received with applause.

O. H. Grey was nominated as President of the meeting. It was seconded by Prof. Baker of Dayton; who stated that he headed 25 delegates who came up to help Ormsby county get in line on silver. [Applause.]

Mr. Grey was nominated by acclamation, and in his speech stated that the people of Nevada wanted free silver, agriculture and better transportation rates. [Applause.]

Once or twice Congress appeared to be just ready to place the apple of success on our lips and then it turned to ashes. But the fight was not yet hopeless and Nevada would not give up. There was a sign of hope in the West for Nevada, and that was the new road to come through the State. [Applause.]

Dorsey Noteware was then elected Secretary by acclamation. Attorney General Torreyson was called on to speak.

Mr. Torreyson stated that he supposed the meeting was a non political one, to discuss matters of interest to the State. The Lyon county people were not in the interests of party, but for the State, irrespective of politics. [Applause.] The speaker then introduced the following resolution:

Whereas, the material interests of the State of Nevada and the development of its dormant resources imperatively demand cheaper lines for transporting its products to the markets of both the East and the West and,

Whereas, the experience of the past has taught the people of Nevada that no reasonable hope can be entertained of reasonable transportation rates from the Southern Pacific R. R. Company.

Therefore be it resolved that we the people of Ormsby county Nevada in Mass Convention assembled pledge ourselves to support encourage and assist any persons or corporations in an honest endeavor to relieve the people of this State from unjust discrimination in the matter of fares and freights, and to this end, we tender our hearty support to the proposed building of the Utah and Nevada Air Line R. R. Co., or to any other proposed competing line of railway crossing or entering the State of Nevada.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Gagnoux of Dayton was the next speaker, and told how the citizens of Dayton had signed the Silver League call in half a day, and pledged themselves to vote for no one, from President down, who was not for free silver. [Applause.]

More clubs were being formed all over the State, and at least 2500 had signed the roll. He believed in the Colorado way—to fight every candidate on the ticket who was not for silver. [Applause.] Some people were trying to find a "nigger in the fence," but there was no such person found. In Lyon county no one had an ax to grind.

The editor of the APPEAL was next called on and made a short speech in favor of bringing Nevada in line with any political organization which would give us our rights on the silver question.

Sardis Summerfield was the next speaker. He regarded the meeting as one that every citizen of Nevada should take an interest in. The people of the country had been talked to a long time on the silver question and thoroughly understood it.

He spoke of the slow progress made on the Chinese question and how it had grown in importance.

The silver question was growing and now two thirds of the people of the United States were for silver. [Applause.] He believed in solid sledge hammer work. He did not believe there was a corporal guard in either party who was not for silver. All things come to those who wait but they come quicker to those who work. [Applause.]

Gen. Jones said he regarded the people of the United States hemmed in by Wall street and London. The silver movement started in the West was rolling Eastward and unless we all put our shoulders to the wheel we would accomplish nothing. [Applause.]

A resolution asking the chair to appoint an executive committee of seven to draft resolutions for the next meeting was adopted.

The following committee was appointed: Frank Folsom, Geo. Myers, B. McClure, W. D. Torreyson, J. Poujade, J. E. Jones, S. P. Davis.

A resolution instructing Nevada's representatives in Congress to lay a complaint before the Inter State Commerce Commission charging the Southern Pacific R. R. with extortion and violation of the Inter State Commerce law, was read and adopted. The Secretary was instructed to forward copies of the resolutions to Nevada's Senators and Congressman.

Warren Noteware thought there was more railroad than silver in the meeting. He believed that silver was ahead of the air line road because if there was no silver industry there would be no new road built.

His motion that Ormsby extend to the silver clubs of the State and to its sister States its hearty co-operation in the silver fight. Carried.

Prof. Baker the head of the Dayton delegation bore his transparency on the platform and spoke for free coinage and irrigation legislation. These were the only two planks in Lyon county. [Applause.]

They wanted a free coinage President no matter whether he was Republican, Democrat, Farmers' Alliance or Mugwump. He would stand by his colors if his vote was lost. [Applause.]

After passing resolutions of thanks to the Lyon delegation and the brass band, the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the executive committee.

JOINED TO HIS IDOLS.

Mr. Elstner Still Thinks Cleveland is a Silver Man.

Carson April 20, 1892.

EDITOR APPEAL:—Though the error you made this morning is of little consequence I would like in justice to myself and other Democrats who favor the nomination of Mr. Cleveland that you will correct it. You said this morning:

Milt Elstner is dead opposed to any Silver Club proposition and writes to the Gazette to say that the Cleveland Democrats will have nothing to do with it. This is quite correct. The Cleveland Democrats are all anti silver being in the same boat with the Harrison Republicans.

I do not believe a Nevada Democrat can be found who booms the nomination of Mr. Cleveland who is not an earnest and firm friend of silver and anxious to have such laws enacted as would put silver on a par with gold.

Their opposition to the organization of non-partisans Silver Clubs in the State arises from the belief that such organizations originated with political dissemblers for their benefit and not for reason of a sincere friendship for silver.

M. R. ELSTNER.
